Web.com Invites Small Businesses in the Greater Boston Area to Its Small Business Summit to Learn How to Better Market Their Businesses Online

Small Business Summit to be Held in Conjunction With the Champions Tour's Constellation Energy SENIOR PLAYERS Championship

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 4, 2015 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Web.com (Nasdaq:WWW), a leading provider of Internet services and online marketing solutions for small businesses, will host a free Small Business Summit designed to help small business owners in the greater Boston area learn how to successfully increase their business' visibility and better market themselves online. The Web.com Small Business Summit will take place on Thursday, June 11, 2015, from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. at the Belmont Country Club in Belmont, Massachusetts. Through Web.com's agreement with the PGA TOUR and as umbrella sponsor of the Web.com Tour, Web.com developed the Small Business Summit as a benefit to small business owners in communities across the country.

"Across the greater Boston area, entrepreneurs and small businesses are helping the local economy continue to grow and are creating new job opportunities for area residents," said Joe Rotellini, tournament director for the Constellation Energy SENIOR PLAYERS Championship. "Small business owners have many competing demands on their time, foremost of which is running a business, and they don't always have the knowledge to successfully market their business online. So with the help of our Champions Tour partners, Web.com and Bank of America, we are pleased to help local small business owners continue to prosper and grow while also having the chance to enjoy the Constellation Energy SENIOR PLAYERS Championship experience."

Natashya Rios, director of marketing at Web.com, will lead the discussion at the Web.com Small Business Summit, and will share information and tools that small business owners can use to improve their cash flow, increase their online visibility and optimize their online marketing efforts.

Topics and content at the Small Business Summit focus on ways small business owners can achieve a successful Internet presence, including the elements of a great website; how to determine if their website is working for them; increasing traffic to their website and business; mobile marketing; and decoding how to efficiently market their business on Google, Facebook and Twitter.

"As part of our commitment to give back to the communities we serve, we are pleased to offer this event that is focused on helping small business owners improve their business model," said Rios. "Every day, Web.com helps millions of business owners address the challenges of building and maintaining an effective online presence that allows their businesses to grow. We expect a lively dialogue covering a range of key, timely topics that small business owners face when tackling this increasingly important digital opportunity."

About the Champions Tour

Collectively, the Champions Tour has the most recognizable and accomplished players in the game, with many of its 32 members in the World Golf Hall of Fame competing regularly in its events. The Tour also counts numerous other major championship winners among its members. The Champions Tour is a membership organization of professional golfers age 50 and older. Conceived in 1980 as the Senior PGA Tour, it started with just four events and purses totaling $475,000. The Champions Tour's primary purpose is to provide financial opportunities for its players, entertain and inspire its fans, deliver substantial value to its partners, create outlets for volunteers to give back, protect the integrity of the game and generate significant charitable and economic impact in communities in which it plays. Points earned in official Charles Schwab Cup events in 2014 determined Bernhard Langer as the Charles Schwab Cup champion, the season-long competition designed to recognize the Champions Tour's leading player. The Commissioner of the PGA TOUR is Tim Finchem. Greg McLaughlin is President of the Champions Tour. The PGA TOUR's website is pgatour.com, the No. 1 site in golf, and the organization is headquartered in Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.
